Uses of smiling

WHY · Value

Understand meanings in context.

Respect differences.

Communicate well.

HOW · Organisation

Title + topic sentences

Compare examples.

Apply ideas in advice.

课型：阅读课 ｜ 标题的 Listening 是拟人表达 ｜ 核心任务： Advice for Tim

说学情｜从熟悉的动作到有依据的解释

Learner assumptions to be checked against the actual class

Starting Point

Everyday experience of gestures
Basic reading and speaking skills
Interest in cultural comparisons

Learning Needs

Link gesture, meaning and context.
Read beyond personal intuition.
Avoid absolute cultural claims.

Record

Gesture → meaning → context

Support

Keywords + advice frames

Extend

Compare settings; qualify advice

说目标｜四维目标与可观察证据

Acquire information · Respect differences · Give appropriate advice

Language Competence	Read the structure and details.	6 paragraph functions; 4 smile uses
Thinking Capacity	Compare with textual evidence.	At least 4 accurate comparisons
Cultural Awareness	Give context-sensitive advice.	3 suggestions with situations + reasons
Learning Capacity	Check and revise with a partner.	A checked table and one revision

Align objectives, learning tasks and assessment evidence.

说重难｜读准信息，解释语境，迁移表达

Key focus: structure, comparisons and advice · Difficulty: integration and qualification

What can our bodies say?

Watch two movements. Separate what you see from what you think.

A wave	Observation: a hand moves. Interpretation: “Hello”, here.
Hands beside the head	Observation: hands together; eyes closed. Interpretation: “Sleep”, here.

Read for meanings. Respect differences. Advise a visitor.

设计意图 激活经验，区分观察与解释

Predict from the title.

Listening to How Bodies Talk

How can bodies “talk”?

PERSONIFICATION · Movements communicate meanings.

A Similarities only

B Body language vs spoken language

C Characteristics only

D Body language in different cultures

Best prediction: D. Read to check, not just to confirm a guess.

CLUE → PREDICTION → TEXTUAL EVIDENCE

设计意图 用标题预测，并通过阅读核验

Skim: find the route through the text.

Topic sentences + supporting examples

1 · B	Introduction
2 · A	Culture-to-culture variation
3 · F	Different meanings of OK
4 · C	Yes / no and greetings
5 · D	Shared examples
6 · E	Multiple uses

P1 Introduction

P2–4 Differences

P5 Similarities

P6 Different uses

B is a summary of P1, not its exact opening sentence.

Use topic sentences to map the text; use examples to verify the ideas.

设计意图 借助主题句建立四部分结构

Read P2: the same action, different meanings.

Record the gesture, meaning and context together.

> “In Japan, it may demonstrate respect to look down when talking to an older person.”

GESTURE	MEANING	CONTEXT IN THE PASSAGE
Eye contact	Displays interest	Some countries (not named)
Eye contact	Not socially approved	Men / women: stated Middle East example
Looking down	May show respect	Japan: speaking to an older person

Does one cultural example describe every person? Keep the context and “may”.

设计意图 示范三栏信息提取，保留原文限定条件

Read P3–4: compare, rather than guess.

These are examples in the passage; meanings depend on context.

The OK sign

Japan	Money
France	Zero
Brazil / Germany	Not polite

Bulgaria / southern Albania: shake = yes; nod = no.

France / Russia: cheek kissing can greet a friend.

CHECK · Which action? Which meaning? Which people and situation?

设计意图 将同一动作的不同意义并置比较

Read P5: what do we share?

“Some gestures seem to have the same meaning everywhere.”

Hands beside the head	A hand over the stomach
Hands together + eyes closed	Moving in circles after a meal
Meaning in the example: sleep	Meaning in the example: “I’m full”

“Seem” leaves room for context.

These are broadly shared examples, not a guarantee in every situation.

设计意图 比较相似性，关注 seem 的谨慎表达

Read P6: one smile, many uses.

Find at least four uses. Support each with words from the paragraph.

Social Interaction

Find friends

Break down barriers

Apologise / greet someone

Ask for help / start a conversation

Emotional Support

Get through difficult situations

Feel happier and stronger

Give comfort to a friend

Who is smiling? To whom? In what situation?

The same expression can serve different purposes.

设计意图 归类多个用途，解释末段主旨

Your task: advice for Tim.

Tim is visiting China for the first time. Prepare at least three suggestions.

1 Meeting people
2 Talking to others
3 Sitting / standing formally

Advice with a Reason

When you …, you could …
because …

Situation + advice + reason

Follow the host's lead. Avoid "always" when the evidence does not support it.

设计意图 将阅读所得迁移为情境化建议

Model, check, and revise.

A teacher model for Tim · Check context, clarity and reasons.

Greeting	At a first meeting, try an appropriate handshake or nod, because greetings depend on people and settings.
Conversation	Use comfortable eye contact without staring to show attention.
Formal setting	Sit or stand attentively to show that you are listening.

REVISE “Everyone in China always shakes hands.”

“At a first meeting, an appropriate handshake or nod may be suitable.”

Crossed legs or folded arms alone do not prove disrespect. Check the setting.

设计意图 示范完整建议，并用标准检查文化泛化

Our reading map: understand and respect.

Listening to How Bodies Talk

BODY LANGUAGE / Cultural understanding

P1 · Introduction
Words + movements

P2–4 · Differences
Meaning changes with culture

P5 · Similarities
Shared sleep / fullness examples

P6 · Different uses
Smiles: social + emotional

EXIT “Before interpreting a gesture, I should …”
Learn the culture. Understand the situation. Respect differences.

设计意图 重构语篇，形成跨文化理解的行动原则

Check your progress. Take it further.

Choose one goal to improve.

- ☐ 6 paragraph functions
- ☐ 4 accurate cultural comparisons
- ☐ 4 uses of smiling
- ☐ 3 contextual suggestions with reasons

Level A · Consolidation

Review the passage.
Sort cultural differences into a gesture–meaning–region table.

Level B · Inquiry

Find another body-language example.
Share it next class.
Record its source and context.

设计意图 以自评核对目标，保留两层作业要求

说反思｜以学习证据检验设计
